The Colors of Augur

Triggers:

This would be used for if someone wanted to look at the more social side of the people who commit to changes in augur; if someone wanted to see the colors people use and maybe how often certain colors are used.

Actors:

This would mostly just be people interested in the workers around augur.

Preconditions:

Someone would have to have downloaded and set up augur on some system in order to access this system, to in turn access the information.

Main Success Scenarios:

The main success scenario would be if the user gets to see all of the information about the colors people use when committing changes to augur.

Alternate Success Scenarios:

An alternate success scenario would be if the same methods can be applied to other data points.

Failed end condition:

If someone tries to run it and either all of the visuals fail, or the information isn't correctly corresponding to what augur has.

Extension:

This could possibly be extended to look at other projects people have setup that store corresponding data.